

Taiwanese Braised Pork Rice Bowls

Serves 6 | Main | Prep 15 min | Cook 60 min

INGREDIENTS

600g Ground pork / 50g Shallots, minced / 15g Garlic, minced / 80mL Soy sauce / 30mL Water for deglazing / 20g Rock sugar / 3g Five-spice powder / 500mL Water / 450g Uncooked jasmine rice / 300g Bok choy, steamed / 600mL Water for rice

METHOD

1. Cook the 450g rice with 600mL rice water according to package instructions.
2. In a heavy-bottomed pot, brown the ground pork over medium heat until it reaches 160°F / 71°C. Remove pork and set aside.
3. In the same pot, fry shallots and garlic in the rendered pork fat until golden brown.
4. Return pork to the pot. Stir in the rock sugar, soy sauce, deglazing water, and five-spice powder.
5. Pour in water, bring to a simmer, and cook covered on low heat for 45 minutes, stirring occasionally.
6. Remove the lid and simmer for another 10-15 minutes until the sauce is thick and flavorful.
7. While the meat finishes, steam the bok choy until tender.
8. Divide rice into six bowls, top with the braised pork mixture, and serve with a side of steamed bok choy.

KITCHEN NOTE

The key to this dish is the slow reduction of the sauce to develop a deep, savory flavor. Developed for Real Family. Not kitchen-tested. Photo illustrates a similar dish.
